Ted's Birthday Party Is City's Biggest Blast

TED LEWIS

The biggest birthday party in the history of Circleville will be held one week from Saturday at the Fairgrounds.

On that date, June 6, Ted

Lewis will observe his 80th birthday as well as his 55th anniversary in show business. A two-part celebration has been planned here in order to accommodate the throngs wishing to take part in the observance.

Dinner portion of the evening has been "sold out" for several weeks and indications are that the dance-show portion will be likewise. It should be pointed out that separate tickets are required for the second half of the evening. Tickets are still on sale, on a first-come first-served basis, at all Circleville banks.

Bob Braun, star of WLW's 50-50 Club, will be master of ceremonies for the event. The Cliff Lash Orchestra will play for the dance and program in the coliseum.

A SPECIAL backdrop for the stage is under construction by Ken and Doris Luna. Many groups and individuals have joined forces to make the celebration a success including Berger Hospital Guilds, Junior Women's Club, Jaycees and BPO Elks.

In a telephone conversation with Ted's wife, Adah, we learned that the famous showman is "looking forward to coming home next week." She remarked that Ted is in good health and "doing fine."

Last month Ted made an appearance at the Tropicana in Las Vegas where a special tribute was made by the Follies Bergere. During the course of the show he sang his famous "Me and My Shadow" which was interrupted by a spontaneous burst of applause.

Ted, who was born here as Theodore L. Friedman, has appeared before seven presidents of the United States and King George V of England. He began four decades of recording in 1919, featuring in his band such artists as Benny Goodman and Jimmy Dorsey. A pioneer performer on radio and television, he also made eight films.

Time Magazine once observed: "Under full steam, Ted Lewis embodies the Shakespearean ham, the minstrel strutter, the carnival drum major, the medicine barker, the vaudeville tear-jerker, the circus buffoon, the ragtime sport—all among the most fondly regarded figures in U.S. life."

Throughout his show business career, Ted has never forgotten his beginning. Whether his appearances took him to New York, the west coast, in the movies or on television, he always mentions his hometown.

On June 6, his hometown will try to show its gratitude by giving him a memorable birthday celebration.

U.S. Arms Deal With Cambodia Stirs Storm

Senators Blast
Secretive Move
By Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved language aimed at conciliating White House opposition to an amendment to bar future U.S. military operations in Cambodia, but new disclosures of American arms shipments has stirred anew the debate over the controversy.

The Senate adopted phrasing 82 to 11 declaring the proposed June 30 cutoff of spending for U.S. military activities in Cambodia to be in support of Nixon's announced withdrawal timetable.

But the impact of the vote was negligible with no sign the White House would ease its stand against the main amendment sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., disclosed Tuesday the administration had advised Congress it was supplying $7.9 million worth of small arms to Cambodia. He said the way the program was initiated and disclosed indicates "the administration's disdain for true consultation with the Congress on foreign policy matters."

Israelis Hit Arab Units On 3 Fronts

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab-Israeli fighting flared on the Egyptian and Jordanian fronts today, and an Israeli patrol entered southern Lebanon for the third straight day of "police action" against Arab guerrillas.

Lebanese Premier Rashid Karami told his Parliament in Beirut that he was considering asking Morocco and Tunisia to send troops to help defend Lebanon against Israeli attacks. Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt indicated that Karami had considered asking Syria or Egypt for help but had decided not to because of objections by conservatives.

It appeared unlikely that Moroccan or Tunisian forces could arrive any time soon, even if their moderate governments agreed to take part in the Arab-Israeli conflict. Karami did not say whether they had agreed to send any troops.

Two Israeli soldiers were reported wounded before dawn in an artillery exchange across the Suez Canal. Israeli jets then crossed the canal and pounded artillery positions on the Egyptian side, the Israeli military command reported.

Israeli and Arab gunners also exchanged artillery and mortar fire across the Jordanian front Tuesday night. Spokesmen said two Israeli border settlements came under mortar fire but that there were no casualties.

Israeli troops in the occupied Golan Heights of Syria fired 14 shells into the town of Irbid, in North Jordan, during the night, a Jordanian military spokesman reported. He said there were no casualties and that Jordanian troops returned the fire, silencing the Israeli batteries.

Roundtown

THE ROOF is being repaired on the Pickaway County Court House . . . And things have been a little dirty in the area the past two days

Yesterday's wind blew the material being used over the front steps, just as a lady was entering . . . She was speckled and it was no easy chore to remove it . . .

A wheelbarrow load of dirt and debris from the roof was dumped into the alley just south of the Court House . . . The wind swept it into open windows on that side of the building.

PAUL Roan, Circleville Health Commissioner, reminded residents today of the city's weed cutting ordinance . . . Weeds and other vegetation of rank growth, if permitted to remain uncut, constitute a serious health hazard, Roan said . . .

If not cut by the owner, the city will cut them and the owner will be assessed the cost . . . In addition, allowing the weeds and vegetation to grow is a misdemeanor and as such, is punishable by a fine of not more than $50 . . .

Each day in violation constitutes a separate offense . . .

When the weeds become too high, the health commissioner may serve a written notice on the owners, agents, lessees, tenants or occupants of such lots to cut the growth.

Viet Outlook: More Fighting

American Role
To Be Extended?

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. troops assigned to security duty in Vietnam are likely to be involved in ground fighting even after the formal American combat role ends next year.

Pentagon officials say the security troops probably will conduct roving patrols into the countryside in guarding bases where U.S. support forces are located.

Where such patrols make contact with the enemy, fighting is likely to follow.

Nixon administration officials have not yet explained publicly what the security troops will be doing—and the risks they will be running in guarding the support forces.

These officials are aware many Americans may have the impression the security units will not be involved in fire (Continued on Page 2)

Aragon Ballroom Leveled By Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The old Aragon Ballroom, for years the home of Lawrence Welk's "champagne music," collapsed in flames early today as a massive fire swept Lick Pier in coastal Venice.

More than 125 firemen battled the fire on the 2,000-foot pier. No injuries were reported. Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Welk, who started appearing at the ballroom during World War II, moved his television show to the Hollywood Paladium about 10 years ago.

Drug, Riot Bills Taken Up By Ohio General Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Again Tuesday it was the action to come that stirred excitement in the 108th General Assembly as a major drug bill left committee for the Senate, four new pieces of anti-riot legislation were introduced, and House Minority Leader John C. McDonald, D-19, Newark, tried to "do his thing" for the second consecutive time.

The Senate Judiciary Committee recommended for passage and sent to the floor a new state drug law, expanded and liberalized following months of committee study and amendment.

The bill seeks to reduce from the category of felony to misdemeanor first offense charges for possession of marijuana. Redefined in the bill, marijuana would no longer be considered a hard narcotic, and would be reclassified as a hallucinogen.

Other aspects of the far reaching drug bill include: —Arrangements for the creation of treatment and rehabilitation centers around the state for drug dependent persons.

—Adoption of new policies allowing for treatment in lieu of prosecution for certain persons found to be dependent on drugs.

—Legalization of supervised and controlled methadone treatments for incurable addicts. Methadone is a non-debilitating and very inexpensive addictive drug.

The legislative hopper, already full of campus riot legislation, was even more full late

Tuesday with the addition of four new bills, two from the House and two from the Senate.

The House measures called for the posting of state riot laws in county courthouses and state institutions, and for the firing of professors and instructors teaching non-catalogue courses on the campus.

The Senate bills, both presented by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R - 7 Cincinnati, were more direct.

His first bill seeks authority for the state to withhold general operating funds — on a daily basis — from state supported colleges and universities when the institutions close as a result of minority violence.

"I can see no reason to pay faculty and administration for time not worked," he said.

The second Maloney measure would require university students to abide by school regulations or face expulsion.

Maloney said, "It is high time that violence-prone students and faculty members be firmly reminded that they are guests of the state when attending or working at public institutions."

"The state has the right to establish criteria for conduct on state property."

And, for the second time in as many days, the Democratic House minority leader from Newark, John C. McDonald, tried to introduce a motion for calling for an investigation of state investment practices.

For the second consecutive day the House-heavy Republicans defeated the motion. The Tuesday vote was 56-30.

Student Group Pressures OSU Through Vigil, Fast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations at Ohio State University over student demands hit a new snag Tuesday as one militant group refused to continue talks on campus and the student government called for a vigil and fast until they resume.

The Afro-Am organization, one of three groups making up the student Strike Coalition, insisted that further negotiations be held off campus because of alleged intimidation of black students by National Guardsmen.

The administration refused. The undergraduate student government approved a resolution Tuesday night calling for a 24-hour vigil and fast by student leaders on the campus oval starting tonight at 6 o'clock if the administration does not agree to resume negotiations.

Observers said the action was designed to force the administration to agree to meet off campus, because continuation of the vigil past midnight would violate a curfew still in effect and probably would result in another confrontation between troops and students.

Such a clash nearly occurred Tuesday night when about 400 students gathered on the oval, deemed it a "liberated zone" and said they would stay there past midnight.

But when the deadline arrived, all but 20 of the students had gone home. The National Guard ordered the 20 to disperse and all but three, who were arrested, complied.

Also included in the reform measure is an 8 per cent pay raise for postal workers, but the committee took no action on President Nixon's request for a $1.5 billion increase in postal rates.

The only dissent came from Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex. Shortly before the committee acted yesterday, he predicted enactment of the legislation would lead to "enormous increases in postage rates and continued cuts in service."

Sen. Gale W. McGee, committee chairman, said he hoped a committee report on the bill would be ready late next week but expressed doubt the Senate would act on it until after the present impasse over a military sales bill is broken.

The corresponding House committee has approved a postal reform bill differing in a number of respects from the Senate measure. The final form of the legislation will have to be resolved by a Senate-House conference committee.

Speaker John W. McCormack, who retires from Congress at the end of the year, will be the guest of honor at the $500-a-plate affair.

Johnson and President Nixon appeared side by side Tuesday at a reception honoring McCormack. The former President called the speaker "an Easterner by birth but a progressive by tradition."

Seeks To Calm Growing Fears Of Depression

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned financial and business leaders from across the nation to a White House dinner tonight in an effort to calm their fears about the sluggish economy and explain the U.S. move into Cambodia.

A White House spokesman said plans for the dinner were laid after Nixon met last week with Bernard Lasker, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange.

He announced the session Tuesday during a day of mixed economic news that varied between a stock market plunge to its lowest level in 7 1/2 years and a Labor Department report that wholesale prices are rising less than last year.

On Capitol Hill, a House subcommittee voted 5-1 along party lines to require Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers to set wage and price guidelines each year and require Nixon to set up a watchdog agency to oversee them.

In addition, the staff of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation predicted the federal budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, will show a $4.5 billion deficit instead of the administration's projected $1.3 billion even if all the Nixon revenue-producing measures take effect.

Senate Panel Approves Postal Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation intended to put the postal service on a more business-like basis, and largely divorced from politics, has won the approval of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

The Post Office Department would be replaced by an independent U.S. Postal Service run by a board of governors, who would select the Postmaster General and have authority to issue up to $10 billion in bonds for operating costs and capital improvements.

Postal rates no longer would be set by Congress. Instead, they would be set by a 5-member rate-making commission, master General and the board of governors.

Also included in the reform measure is an 8 per cent pay raise for postal workers, but the committee took no action on President Nixon's request for a $1.5 billion increase in postal rates.

The only dissent came from Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex. Shortly before the committee acted yesterday, he predicted enactment of the legislation would lead to "enormous increases in postage rates and continued cuts in service."

Soviets Feel Outsmarted By Mao In Far East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet fury over Red China's initiatives in Indochina leaves the impression that the Russians feel they have been outsmarted and fear that Peking stands to be the long-term and perhaps only beneficiary of events in Cambodia.

Though they may glean consolation from the difficulties Cambodia has created for Washington, the Russians may look upon the turn of events in Indochina as a disaster of sorts for Moscow, too.

While the Kremlin hung back indecisively after the overthrow of Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Peking acted swiftly to capitalize on the situation. The result as of now is that Peking has a large section of the Asian Communist movement—along with Sihanouk—echoing its cry for "protracted war."

If the American and South Vietnamese incursions into Cambodia happen to extend the war and make it less susceptible to solution by negotiations, that could be just what Peking wants. Perhaps the situation now really is less susceptible to political solution. Sihanouk is denouncing the suggestion, hinting at not long ago by the Russians, of a new Geneva-type conference on Indochina. The "protracted war" cry also seems to dim chances for any talks.

Sihanouk is acting as if Peking owned him. His speeches in Peking, the base of his government-in-exile, sound like a replay of Mao's as he pledges Cambodia to "protracted war."

Nations "who love freedom and justice," says Sihanouk, have recognized his government. This suggests that these failing to recognize him are no better than the "imperialists." The Russians and Soviet-camp nations have not recognized the exile government though Sihanouk has asked them to. It seems the Russians never trusted the mercurial Sihanouk and probably trust him even less now that he appears to be tucked into Mao's back pocket.

But Moscow wants to make points with Asia's Communists and thus may find itself forced to recognize Sihanouk. Russian diplomats then would have to leave Cambodia, perhaps not to return for a long time, while Sihanouk's allies carried out that "protracted war" with Peking's help.

Printers Get Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News has reached a tentative agreement with printers of Typographical Union No. 6 which would provide salary increases of 41.69 per cent over a three-year contract period.

The agreement follows one reached with the New York Times Sunday and was announced Tuesday after a four-hour meeting of union representatives with News management.

Meanwhile, Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president and publisher of The Times, announced the newsstand price of the paper would go from 10 to 15 cents effective June 1. Advertising rates would also be increased an average of 14 cents a line August 1, he said.

In addition, Sulzberger said the price of the Sunday edition would be increased to 75 cents for locations outside the city and Long Island, but within a 200-mile radius. He said he regretted the cost increases but said there was "no alternative."

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the most comprehensive studies ever undertaken on how big block trades affect stock market prices are nearing completion.

More than two years after it was created by Congress to investigate the power of the big blocks, a Securities and Exchange Commission group expects to present its findings on Nov. 1.

And a University of Pennsylvania professor's 1½-year study on the impact of institutional investing in the market is slated for publication in late July.

The results of the studies will undoubtedly cause considerable stirring in the financial community. Both were launched amidst growing governmental and securities industry concern that the buying and selling of large blocks—10,000 or more shares—tends to make individual stock prices highly volatile.

The major fear was that the small investor may not be getting a fair shake in a market increasingly dominated by institutional participation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Bisset is the kind of girl a man would turn to look at twice even if he were fleeing a sinking ship.

But attractive as she is with her striking figure, copper-brown hair and 250-watt, gray-green eyes, Miss Bisset, one of the most rapidly rising young international film stars, has no desire to be billed as a sex image.

"I don't think of myself as that at all," she said. "When they tell me to be sexy in a photograph, I don't know what they mean."

"Do they mean you should hike your skirt up or stick your tongue out? It's ridiculous."

"What makes a person sexy is the opposite sex. It's more mental than physical. There are a lot of birds around who dress in a sexy fashion, but who aren't at all sexy in their minds. They are just doing a narcissistic trick in their heads."

"A Frenchwoman, even if plain, is attractive because she is aware of being a woman and feels like a woman. That makes a man feel more masculine."

During a brief career as a London model, Jackie—as her friends know her—had such nicknames as "Jackson," "The Biscuit," and "B.B.B." for "big-bottomed broad."

"But they can't call me by the last one now—that's gone," said Miss Bisset, with the pleasant complacency of a girl who tapes in at 36-24-36.

Only 24, Jackie already has been in 11 films, including "The Detective," "Bullitt," and "Airport." She has appeared with such top male stars as Frank Sinatra, Albert Finney, Dean Martin, and Steve McQueen. In her latest picture, "The Grasshopper," she is costarred with Jim Brown and plays the title role of a Las Vegas lass with elastic morals.

She feels that she has reached a difficult point in her career.

"I've been identified with so many famous male stars that now I have the problem of establishing my own identity," she said. "Not necessarily as a star, but at least an identity."

"My goal changes as I go along. If I do a big part well, then I want to do a small part brilliantly. I want to keep growing, not become static, and keep experiencing new emotions, good or bad."

"But to me life is fun. My philosophy? Well, I kind of like the advice a girl friend once gave me: 'Relax, to think of yourself as true—and lie like hell to everyone else.' But I don't think she really meant it. The same with people."

She says she has no present

tions, it was felt the little guy may be on the losing end of fast price fluctuations when holders of a large number of shares get in or out of a stock.

If anything, the problem has become more severe since the studies began.

The New York Stock Exchange reports a 37 per cent jump in block volume in 1969 over 1968. This means, according to the exchange, a big block transaction crossed its ticker on the average of once every four minutes last year.

Industry observers say the institutions—mutual and pension funds, insurance companies, trusts and endowments—are now responsible for about 95 per cent of the block trades. And they say trading by institutions accounts for over 50 per cent of the daily volume on the New York Stock Exchange.

While the SEC and the professor are analyzing daily stock prices, they are also looking into broader aspects related to institutional investing and big block trading.

The SEC study, being done under a congressional grant of $875,000, is zeroed in on the institutions themselves. Its 50-member, full-time staff wants to know about how institutions get their funds, how the funds are managed and the relationship between the institutions and the companies in which they own stock.

Prof. Irwin Friend's study, being done at the Wharton School of Finance under an approximate $75,000 grant from the 20th Century Fund, is centered on the mutual funds. Friend particularly wants to know if mutual funds are channeling their investments into companies that are most beneficial to the economy. In other words, investing heavily in the steel industry may be better for the economy than large investments in the candy industry.

Neither Friend nor the SEC are willing to discuss their preliminary findings. A SEC spokesman says its report is confidential until it goes to Congress.

plans to marry. She likes to dress and live informally. Her home is a tiny beach shack near Malibu.

Asked what she would like to be at 70, Jackie said: "I'd like to be a marvellously eccentric old lady who makes people laugh and who listens to children."

Overdue Facelift

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, Gregory Peck indicated that stodgy old Oscar was going to get a facelift. Now it has happened.

In recent times, critics have accused the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences of being an establishment-oriented, Oscar's gaze, they claimed, was toward Hollywood's golden but long-gone past.

These critics pointed to the recent Academy awards, which seemed to recognize the old-style entertainment movies while ignoring the excitement of the new cinema.

The accusations seemed to have some merit. Each year after the nominations have been announced, the Academy screens the nominated films in its theater. A glance over the audience at those screenings gives an indication of the membership. Many of those present have long retired from film making.

Gregory Peck has been no mere figurehead as president of the Academy. He was aware of the accusations of the geriatric nature of the Academy electorate, as well as the claims that pressures can be applied to swing votes.

Peck was also aware that there would be hurt feelings and widespread indignation if the Academy made any abrupt changes in its membership.

"The Board of Governors instituted a two-year study of the member roster," said a spokesman. "The Board realized that the passage of time had made some branch affiliations inappropriate. A committee went through the list, branch by branch and member by member."

The review brought changes in status for 497 members. For ty-nine were changed from one branch to another—for example, a writer who had become a director. One hundred and nine were switched from branches to being members-at-large. They were mostly members who had been inactive in films; they can now vote for the awards but not for the nominations in their own crafts.

Three hundred and thirty-nine members were made associates, which means they cannot vote for awards. The Academy has also tightened up the rules on qualifications for new members: more experience in films will be required.

Last week Peck announced another change; the members of the public relations branch were being switched to associate membership, thus depriving them of voting for the awards. The Academy president reasoned that the publicists do their major work after films are completed and thus have no hand in the creative process.

"An eight-man committee headed by Daniel Taradash of the writers' branch was appointed to review complaints about the changes," said an Academy spokesman. "So far only 13 out of the 567 changes have been reversed."

The new setup reduces the Academy electorate from 3,172 to 2,802. Peck believes that the reduced total will be more responsive to what is current in the film world.

But the real challenge lies ahead. Not only must the Academy revise its present membership; it must also attract the young film makers who are bringing excitement to the movie business today. So far they show little inclination to join the Academy or anything else that smacks of the establishment.

A PRISON warden summoned a prisoner doing a ten-year stretch and told him, "I note that you're here for disseminating a fraudulent prospectus for a non-existent oil well that was so persuasive you bamboozled over two thousand suckers."

"Three thousand," corrected the prisoner modestly. "Okay," nodded the warden. "Now the governor has asked me for a report on conditions in the prison here and I figure you're just the man to write it for me."

A visiting diplomat, arriving by plane for a visit to the big brass in Washington, did not know until he disembarked that the ambassador to the U.S. from his country had died of a sudden stroke just hours previous. A member of the welcoming group remarked on the way to the waiting automobile, "I believe that the jet on which you arrived will carry your ambassador back home."

Startled, the visitor asked, "Back home? Why? Has he been recalled?" His informant answered, "And how!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Each month there seems to be a new article in popular magazines about low blood sugar. Is this a new fad that is springing up medically?

Mr. G. Y., New York Dear Mr. Y.: I have read many of these articles in popular magazines and really believe that low blood sugar is being made the answer for everything from a wart on the foot to cancer of the intestines. Everyone who is so enthusiastic about low blood sugar or hypoglycemia being the answer to all medical problems will, before long, jump on another bandwagon with just as much enthusiasm.

Low blood sugar is an abnormally low amount of blood sugar in the circulating blood. There are numerous reasons—some simple and others complex. For example, the blood sugar may fall to an unusually low level in people who have gone without food for eight to twelve hours. A sudden feeling of weakness, sweating and even trembling may accompany a fall in blood sugar. With it may come dizziness and a feeling of anxiety. Let me emphasize that the symptoms I describe must not be interpreted by the reader as "that's exactly what I have."

The likelihood is that you will be wrong.

A more complex reason may be an overdose of insulin used by a diabetic who did not "cover" the injection with adequate food. Many other reasons for low blood sugar involve the hormone glands and abnormalities in the liver and in metabolism.

In New York City, my attention was brought to a doctor who had no hospital or university affiliations and who had no special training in the treatment of low blood sugar. He set himself up as a specialist and has for years been attracting members of Alcoholics Anonymous. Alcoholics, already burdened by their physical and emotional problems, could be financially depleted by such a self-made specialist and authority in the field of blood sugar.

It is particularly sad that these alcoholics who are so courageously trying to win their battle are made captive by the ignorance of those who attribute alcoholism to low blood sugar.

Let it not be misunderstood or misinterpreted that low blood sugar does not exist. It does.

Your own physician is completely aware of the importance of hypoglycemia and can make positive tests if he suspects it. These are known as sugar tolerance studies.

Saving Our Environment

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Long ago Julian Feiss, a geologist who works for the Department of the Interior, predicted that nothing effective would be done to "recycle" wastes until industry found ways of doing it at a profit. Such a prediction may sound cynical, but Mr. Feiss is no cynic. He was looking ahead to the day when the cost of poisoning our environment would be so obvious that recycling would become cheap by comparison.

Interestingly enough, one member of New York City's Mayor's Advisory Committee on pollution, Charles Macaluso, thinks that the New York metropolitan area is just about two years away from the realization that "recycling" will be cheaper than the present methods of garbage and waste disposal. Land-fill dumping areas in the New York area are disappearing; the city is now using disposal grounds so far from the big population centers that dumping fees are double what they were eight years ago. Wastes can no longer be eliminated—or changed into an unclean atmospheric pollution—by incinerators, for, with the vast increase in non-returnable glass and metal containers, only 30 per cent of a city's refuse can be burned.

In New Jersey, 80 per cent of the incinerators in use a few years ago have had to be closed; they are no longer able to do their job with any efficiency.

Mr. Macaluso, whose New York Carting Company removes more than 600,000 pounds of rubbish, garbage and building materials from the city every day, has discovered that he is up against the wall in his efforts to pony up half-a-million dollars a year in dumping fees. His answer to his troubles begins with a giant shredding machine that can literally chew up anything and spew it out in the size of sawdust particles.

The U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department in Washington, using Mr. Macaluso as consultant, has eight pilot shredding plants at work, doing something that should also have the cooperation of the Department of the Interior. Mr. Macaluso, who is a contractor, not a manufacturer, is not alone in grappling with the problem: General Motors, General Electric and Monsanto Chemical are experimenting with giant shredding equipment. We are closer than anyone thinks to the day when we can avoid the ecological doom that scientists have set for the year 2000 if we continue to ruin the atmosphere and the oceans by our present methods of waste disposal.

What comes out of the giant shredding machine is something called "sterill." It is odorless and completely decontaminated, and had the consistency of peat moss. Anything can go into it—the parts of an old Chevrolet, a discarded telephone pole, the bones from last Sunday's leg of lamb, the liquid sludge from sewage disposal plants. When the shredder has done its job it produces a useful compost material that can be put back on the land as fertilizer, roadside contouring, landfill of any type. Mr. Macaluso speaks of a "total concept" of waste disposal; the shredder leaves nothing that is unusable toward the end of restoring to the earth what man takes away from the earth.

Mr. Macaluso insists there is nothing Utopian about the shredding proposition. If New York does not come to some variant of it in the next few years, the city will have to be deserted. It will cost less to transport shredded waste, which is thirty times more dense than the average household rubbish, than it now costs to put the leftover product of incinerators into trucks or barges for dumping in swamp areas or ten or twenty miles out to sea. The time is coming when the coal cars that bring fuel from the strip mines to urban power plants will be loaded with shredded wastes for their return trips to West Virginia or Pennsylvania. The wastes will be dumped into stripped areas to restore them to useful fertility. The poisoned Hackensack, New Jersey, meadows, now useless for anything, even for "wetland" incubation of marine life, can be made over into odorless and decontaminated building, park and garden space.

We heard practically nothing at the recent Earth Day rallies about salvation of the environment through shredding equipment produced by U.S. industry. Our young ecological converts don't like to envision capitalism preserving our environment for a profit. But this is the most feasible way to preserve it. In fact, it is the only way it is likely to be done.

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor: I am writing to you to give you my opinion on the article in The Circleville Herald, Thursday, May 21, 1970.

First of all, I agree with what you are saying. Law must be enforced. Authority must be respected, whether it be the faculty of a college, the police, a teacher, or our own President. I am a high school teacher myself, and I feel high school students do not have the respect for authority to the extent they should.

I was a college student myself not more than a year or so ago. I felt that school administrators were in their respective jobs because they knew more about running a university than I did. But college students demand a greater voice in the running of their school when they do not have the necessary maturity and experience.

I did think the wording was a little strong, but maybe this is the time for strong language.

Dear Abby: Well-Meaning Friend Made Mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently a friend of mine had an operation, and shortly before she was taken to the operating room I called her on the telephone and read a little prayer to her. She thanked me for calling and hung up.

The next thing I knew, I got a call from her husband telling me in no uncertain terms that I shouldn't have done that as I had upset his wife, but plenty.

Abby, I had an operation a few years ago myself, and before my surgery, my doctor came in and asked me to say a little prayer with him, and it made me feel better.

Please tell me if I made a mistake.

MEANT WELL
DEAR MEANT: Even though you "meant well," if it upset your friend, you made a mistake. (P.S. I believe in prayer, but if my surgeon came in and asked me to "pray" with him, I don't know whether I'd pray doubly hard or find another surgeon.)

DEAR ABBY: You told LONG BEACH WIFE to quit nagging her husband about not wearing his wedding band, and my husband pointed out your answer victoriously. However, our problem is slightly different.

My husband wears his wedding band only when it suits him. For instance, he takes it off and leaves it home when he has class (he's still in college), or if he's going to have a "night out" with the boys.

I'm not saying he is up to anything, but it sure looks suspicious. I would rather he didn't wear his ring at all than to have him pick it up and put it down like a yo yo.

To me, a wedding band is not just a piece of jewelry, it's a symbol of a commitment.

Claim Soviets Being Slain In Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — A limited number of Soviet advisers have been killed or wounded in Israeli raids into Egypt, knowledgeable sources report, and whether more may be hit depends on the Soviet Union.

The sources warned more Russian deaths and injuries may occur, if the Soviet Union decides to move surface-to-air missiles (SAM) and Russian pilots into the Suez Canal area. Presently, the sites and Russian-piloted planes are in the Egyptian interior, away from what Israel considers to be the combat zone.

Soviet crews man the SAM installations.

The exact number of Russian casualties is secret, if known at all. But the total is said by informants to be small.

Justices Push Speedy Trials

State Delays Not Permissible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has again cautioned the states they must enforce the constitutional right of defendants to be brought to trial speedily.

But the right, contained in the sixth amendment and applied to the states by the court beginning in 1967, remains largely undefined.

The court's latest involvement was a decision Monday that upset the holdup conviction of a Florida truckdriver who was not tried until 7½ years after arrest.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the delay obviously prejudiced the delayed defendant, Robert Dean Dickey, since two witnesses died and police records were lost or destroyed.

Moreover, Burger said, Dickey three times asked to be tried and was turned down before officials, under pressure of Florida courts, finally decided to move ahead with his prosecution.

Crowded dockets, a lack of judges or lawyers and other factors sometime make delay inevitable, the chief justice said. But when the delay is for the convenience of the state and is prejudicial to the defendant, it is intolerable and impermissible, he said.

The ruling only begins to resolve a serious legal problem.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. noted in a concurring opinion that the court has left several questions open.

For example: Does the right to be tried speedily also involve a right to be indicted speedily?

And: Does a convicted man have to show he was prejudiced by delay, or is a long delay sufficient ground to invalidate the conviction?

Also: Does a man have to demand a speedy trial, as Dickey did, to be entitled to one?

Undoubtedly, there are accused who do everything they can to delay their trials, and some undoubtedly benefit by the delay.

Ramp Falls, Kills Truck Driver In California

BALDWIN PARK, Calif. (AP) — Highway crews say bulldozers and dump trucks will probably work through Wednesday clearing away six million pounds of rubble left when a freeway offramp bridge collapsed Monday, killing a motorist.

The bridge, not open to traffic, fell onto an underpass transition road, trapping the motorist and his 1955 pickup truck underneath.

Commuter traffic normally jams the transition road. Although the concrete bridge caved in during morning rush hour, only the one truck was underneath. The scene was 10 miles east of Los Angeles at the connection of the San Bernardino Freeway with the San Gabriel River Freeway.

Cause of the collapse was not known. The offramp had not been opened to traffic. Its concrete was poured last Thursday and had not finished the curing process, officials said.

Use Of Methadone To Fight Heroin Addiction Successful

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of more than 2,800 heroin addicts who entered a methadone treatment program has found that none of those who remained in the program returned to daily use of heroin.

Storms Slap South Texas With Rain, Hail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rolling out of the Great Plains slapped southern Texas today with wind, rain and hail.

Fair and pleasant weather dominated most other sections of the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic. A frosty chill lingered over the northern Great Lakes.

Locally severe thunderstorms roamed the Rio Grande Valley before daybreak. Large hail and high wind slashed at Laredo, Tex. Minor property damage was reported, and there was some flash flooding.

The storms dumped more than 3 inches of rain into San Antonio earlier, with over 2 inches falling in one hour. Nearly 2 inches soaked Texas areas to the north as well as sections of Oklahoma and Louisiana.

A heavy thunderstorm at Shreveport, La., late Tuesday packed winds of 50 miles an hour and large hailstones.

Cool air spreading over the eastern seaboard brought clearing skies following locally heavy rains in some areas Tuesday.

A downpour in New York knocked out subway service to parts of Brooklyn and forced emergency evacuation of 6,000 persons from stalled trains. Nineteen persons were treated for exhaustion and smoke inhalation from an electrical system fire.

Cooler weather rolling across the Pacific northwest brought cloudiness to much of the region west of the Rockies.

Gardenwood Club Slates Guest Speaker

Mrs. Harriet Burris will show slides on garden lighting to members of Gardenwood Club during the meeting 8 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. George Shank, 431 Glenmont Court.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Brackett and Mrs. Dennis Johnson.

Mrs. Burris is a representative of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The study, released Tuesday, also showed that the majority of the addicts reduced or eliminated previous patterns of antisocial behavior and either got jobs or started school.

The program used procedures developed by Dr. Vincent Dole and Dr. Marie Nyswander of Rockefeller University to treat the addicts, most of them through the Morris Bernstein Institute of Beth Israel Hospital and allied hospitals.

Critics of the methadone treatment approach say that it simply switches the addiction from one drug, heroin, to another, methadone, a synthetic opiate.

The difference between the two is that methadone does not produce a "high" and a user can therefore lead a more normal life. Further, when given to a heroin addict, methadone blocks the heroin high so that an injection of that drug does not yield any pleasure for the addict.

The study, made under the direction of Dr. Frances Rowe Gearing of the Columbia University School of Public Health and Administrative Medicine, found some faults with the program but generally concluded that methadone makes a significant impact in improving the lives of most of the heroin addicts.

The study found that of the 2,862 addicts who entered the program, 2,279 had remained in it. And while many occasionally injected heroin to see if they could get high—especially during the initial phases of treatment—none of those who remained in the program returned to daily use of heroin.

The study said users could get by on a single dose of methadone daily instead of feeling the

Onassis Breakup Story Is Denied

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A spokesman for Aristotle Onassis, husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy, denies they have had a spat involving opera singer Maria Callas, an old time companion of the shipping magnate.

Onassis and Miss Callas dined together in Paris last week while Mrs. Onassis was in the United States, but the spokesman said Tuesday published reports that this had led to a marital tiff were "silly with no basis."

Mr. and Mrs. Onassis flew into Athens together Sunday.

need for a fix of heroin every four to six hours. Furthermore, methadone addicts did not have the debilitation, euphoria and impotency associated with heroin use.

The study said methadone programs must include facilities to handle a variety of social problems which addicts frequently have, including mixed drug abuse, chronic alcoholism and psychiatric problems.

It also recommended that methadone not be considered suitable for use by private practitioners because questions remain about what types of heroin addicts can be successfully treated with it.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — CBS gave the nation its second television tour of the White House Tuesday night on "60 Minutes," devoting about 25 minutes to a stroll through the second floor living quarters of the presidential family.

Tour guide was Tricia Nixon, the petite blonde daughter of the President. She not only displayed familiarity with White House history but also showed poise before the cameras and a nice sense of humor.

With Mike Wallace and Harry Reasoner in tow and asking questions, Miss Nixon started on Harry Truman's balcony. She said the family occasionally sat there, ate there and often reversed the usual process by looking at the tourists.

The itinerary went through the formal reception room, a center hall, the family living room, dining room, the President's study and a VIP guest room. The family's own sleeping quarters were not shown.

In the course of the visit, Tricia and the color cameras revealed a lot about the Nixons' taste. The family rooms were light, and splashed with color. The family living room had a comfortable chintzy look about it with an oil portrait of the two girls painted when they were children.

The presidential family uses state furniture chosen from White House warehouses—their own furniture is in the San Clemente house. Until their own state china arrives, they are using the set chosen by the Eisenhowers.

Asked if life in the White House was not like living in a goldfish bowl, Tricia smilingly admitted the occupants were on display, but added that "it is more like a goldfish bowl when you are out of it than when you live in it."

At the segment's end, Wallace opened a humidor on a table and asked if its contents were Cuban cigars.

"I don't think they are Cuban cigars," replied Tricia, dead pan. "Fidel Castro has not been here on a state visit for a long time."

Another segment of the program concerned itself with the estimated 500,000 children who each year run away from home—to Florida, to big cities including those with hippie colonies where crash pads and handouts are available.

It was a very light, quick treatment that did little more than skim the surface. The average age of the runaway is 15; more girls than boys cut out; and the youngsters are mostly from affluent suburban homes with problems relating to school, parents or friends.

It is hard to come to grips with such a complex subject in 15 minutes, but this is one of the abiding difficulties of the magazine-format actuality program. Tricia Nixon's White House tour was certainly worth a full hour of time, and so was the report on runaway children.

FOUND IN MOUNTAINS — Paul Snow, 47-year-old Sunday School teacher who lost 41 pounds during a week-long ordeal without food in the rugged mountains near Glendora, Calif., is recuperating in a hospital. He became separated from 10 other members of a church hiking group and was found lying in steeply-walled gulch.

Enough For Drinks

VANDEBIJL PARK, South Africa (AP) — Enough money for a bit of marijuana and a bottle of brandy. That was all crane driver Pieter Bouwer Schutte willed his eldest son John when he died. Schutte stipulated that the remainder of the estate be divided among three other children — apart from Rands 50 ($70) which he wanted spent on drinks for every man attending his funeral.

GOP Eyes Party Split In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although virtually powerless to do anything about it, the Republican State Central and Executive Committee met this morning to discuss its first serious party split in years.

Republican State Chairman John Andrews called the special meeting after State Auditor Roger Cloud, the party's nominee for governor, demanded that two statewide candidates get off the November GOP ticket.

State Treasurer John D. Herbert, the party's candidate for attorney general, and Sen. Robert T. Turner, GOP nominee for treasurer, have refused to withdraw their candidacies.

Cloud called upon the two to withdraw after it was disclosed they had accepted campaign contributions from Crofters, Inc., the firm involved in a scandal over state investments.

Andrews, who supported Cloud's demands, said there was little the state GOP committee could do except deny the two candidates party support. Meanwhile, Republicans reportedly were trying to keep party leaders around the state calm by reminding them that November is a long way off.

And some Republicans were attempting to divert attention to the opposition by wondering aloud whether any Democrats accepted campaign donations from officers of Crofters.

One of them, Gertrude Donahy, Turner's democratic opponent for treasurer, said none of the firm's officers contributed to her campaign.

The campaign contributions in behalf of Herbert and Turner came to light a few days after Cloud disclosed that several commercial firms had received large unsecured loans from the state treasurer's office and School Employees Retirement System.

The treasurer's office had exceeded its $50 million limit on commercial paper investments by 2.8 million.

Crofters served as finder in putting private companies in touch with the treasurer's office and SERS, Cloud said.

Herbert received a $15,000 campaign contribution and Turner $7,500 from Harry Groban, a Crofters officer.

After the controversy erupted, Gov. James A. Rhodes announced that Crofters officers contributed $3,000 to unsuccessful bid for the GOP Senate nomination, and Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said his losing campaign for the GOP gubernatorial nod received a $5,500 donation.

Cloud said a Crofters officer tried to contribute $1,000 to his campaign but he ordered it returned.

Democratic State Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady demanded Monday an immediate full-scale and independent investigation of the state loans and campaign contributions.

"The conduct or misconduct of elected public officials is not a matter that can be settled by the Ohio Republican Party or its appointed agents," O'Grady asserted.

Water Shortage

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesian farmers face a serious water shortage in the southern hemisphere winter and officials have warned those who rely on rivers for irrigation to hesitate before planting any winter crops.

THIS DEMONSTRATION IS FOR NIXON—Strings of ticker tape float to the street in New York's financial district as an estimated 150,000 backers of President Nixon stage a noisy but peaceful demonstration. The marchers included construction workers, bricklayers, longshoremen, steamfitters and other industrial and office workers.

Couple Finds Not All Sweetness, Light In Suburbs

The Circleville Herald, Wed. May 27, 1970 13
Circleville, Ohio

EDITOR'S NOTE — Suburbia used to be a one-way street, crowded with thousands fleeing the city. Some of the tide has been turning lately, and the story of one house in one suburb offers some hints why.

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The house on Canterbury Road is a suburban dream home: three bedrooms, two baths, a large wooded lot with a stone fence, small brook, good schools, perfect for children.

If the house could talk, it would say much about why people move to the suburbs—and why they leave.

It was built of wood and stone 22 years ago, the kind of house that has tripled in value, the kind a real estate salesman would tap on its plaster walls and exclaim: "They don't build 'em like this any more."

But a house is for people and people's ideas change and the house on Canterbury Road is no exception but a prototype of the joys and otherwise of suburban living.

The first owners, Dick and Marion Reiss, bought it in 1948 planning to live there happily ever after.

The Reiss's had lived in the city all their lives and rented summer homes in the country until it was time to think about schooling for their 4-year-old son, Rick.

Once in Harrison they lived happily together for many years—the house, the Reiss's and their son—all growing older together. Then things began to change.

Gradually the woods became populated with other three bedroom homes. Some of the Reiss's contemporaries moved back to the city. The newcomers had young children and the Reiss's felt they had little in common with them.

Mrs. Reiss had been elected recording secretary of so many women's organizations she was grateful when Rick took his typewriter to Dartmouth College so she had an excuse to say no to further secretarial volunteering.

Her husband, a Democrat in a Republican area, enjoyed the smalltown politics and even ran unsuccessfully for town board once but somehow school bond issues didn't seem as relevant after Rick was in college.

Like many city-bred men, Reiss found he never really became handy with home repairs. As Mrs. Reiss grew older, she didn't like being alone.

Rising suburban crime seemed ominous. The aging commuter trains began to bring her husband home later every night from his Manhattan law practice.

With Rick away at Dartmouth, then at New York University law school, the house seemed to grow larger.

"It was like an empty shell," recalled Mrs. Reiss.

Mrs. Reiss's health waned and doctors warned her about climbing stairs.

One day Mr. and Mrs. Reiss decided it was time to move. They sold the house, not without regrets, and moved into a two bedroom apartment in Manhattan.

They have no lawn on which to sit on a hot summer night. But then they reason there's no grass to mow. A building handyman takes care of repairs. They complain of air pollution but are proud of their East River view. She complains about the poorly stocked markets but she does enjoy having the groceries delivered.

Public transportation in the city is dependable but they enjoy not having the responsibility of an automobile.

Their rent is increasing but then they don't have to pay property taxes.

They entertain frequently but are resigned to the fact that during the summer their suburban friends, wouldn't care to come into the city.

"We just reverted back to where we were 26 years ago," said Mrs. Reiss. "The city in the winter, Westchester County in the summer. That's our story."

The Reiss's story appeared to be on the way to being repeated with the Alan Silverstone's, a young couple in their mid-twenties with one daughter, who purchased the house on Canterbury Road.

As an expression of hospitality to the large numbers of foreign visitors to Japan's Expo '70, the Osaka Prefectural and Municipal governments have launched a Home Visit Program within the Osaka metropolitan area for the duration of Expo. The home visit is a prearranged after dinner call on a local Japanese family who have indicated interest in welcoming foreign tourists to their homes.

The Silverstone's added shiny, modern appliances to the kitchen, painted and papered. But then one day less than a year later, Alan Silverstone totaled the hours spent commuting and realized that each year he was spending the equivalent of a five week vacation on a train. "Commuters say they can read the paper or sleep on the train," he said. "But if you were a psychiatrist and worked on them six months, you'd find they don't like it."

"We had a beautiful home. I just never had time to enjoy it," said Silverstone.

The Silverstones sold the house to the first people to see it, Janet and Tom King, both in their late 20's.

Janet, a petite blond, grew up in a small Massachusetts town. Tom, a portfolio analyst for a large brokerage firm, lived in New York City as a child and in suburbia as a teen-ager. Neither would consider living in the city with their daughter, Leslie, 3, or son, Douglas, two months.

Both sing the praises of Harrison and their house.

Cookouts—"That's standard suburban operating procedure," said Tom. "I've been known to cook out in a rainstorm."

Their neighbors—"You get as much privacy as you want."

Tom relishes working in the yard, Janet keeping house. They have been active in local issues. Eventually they plan to convert the sunporch into an extra room.

He is an enthusiastic commuter and walks the half mile to the train station each day.

"I get to the office, and I've already read the paper. And I can take a nap if I want to."

The Kings envision spending the rest of their lives in their suburban home.

"I don't know how the Silverstones could give it up," said Janet. "But I'm glad they did."

The house on Canterbury Road has heard that before.

Find Man Innocent In Murder Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Common Pleas Court jury returned an innocent verdict Monday in the first-degree murder trial of Toby Justice, 26, accused of the Jan. 15 shooting death of Valerie Louise Champion.

The body of the 19-year-old Miss Champion, also known as Toni Broadway, was found stuffed in a storm sewer near the Olentangy River.

On the Italian island Sardinia sheep and goats outnumber people two to one, reflecting the deeply embedded agricultural economy. The perky Sardinian burro, hardly bigger than a goat, still provides intervillage transportation.

Vanik Urges Cuts In Borrowing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, said Tuesday the Nixon administration's request for $18 billion additional borrowing authority should be cut by $6 billion, with the saving coming out of defense spending.

"If we can hack away at appropriations for education for health, for veterans's services for housing and for pollution, we ought to make a reasonable effort to apply the tax principles to defense spending," said

Vanik, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee to which the request was referred.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of accreditation standards for mental retardation centers will emphasize the unique character of each individual—and that person's right to develop his limited potential, according to the program's director.

"We feel that each individual resident is entitled to an adequate program to meet his needs," Dr. Kenneth G. Crosby, head of the Accreditation Council for Facilities for the Mentally Retarded, said in an interview. Many mentally retarded persons today are subjected to impersonal custodial care, he added. But the standards being developed, and expected to be implemented by 1971, will call for improvements in physical facilities, treatment, and, most importantly, attitude, he said.

"Many things can be accomplished by changes in attitude, in the way residents of these facilities are viewed," Crosby stated.

"If the resident is seen as an individual who lacks potential for development, then the chances are very great no development will occur," he explained.

"If he is viewed as having potential, then that itself is apt to accomplish some improvement." The council is consulting with parents and specialists in about 30 fields relating to mental retardation to shape standards for accreditation.

Want Student Named To Vacancy At BGSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Petitions calling for the appointment of a student to a vacancy on the Bowling Green State University board of trustees were delivered Tuesday to the office of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

A gubernatorial appointment is required to fill a vacancy created by the expiration May 17 of the term of Robert C. Winzler.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

Crosby said human rights, especially as they relate to an institution's programs for its residents, will be stressed. Institutions heaving to the voluntary accreditation standards almost certainly will require more money, he said.

But he added the very existence of national standards may be a tool for persuading legislatures to appropriate more funds for these services.

Crosby said the accreditation standards will be available both to the estimated 200 tax-supported institutions and the 200 or more private facilities for the mentally retarded.

U.S. Puts Multi-Warhead Missiles In Dakota Silos

PARSHALL, N.D. (AP) — The latest addition to the nation's arsenal of nuclear missiles is being slipped into underground silos on the prairies of North Dakota.

Newsman got a look at one installation of a Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile Monday, although the rocket's multiple warhead was not in place as it was lowered from a special vehicle into its underground berth by Air Force crews.

The Air Force wasn't saying how many of the MIRV—for multiple independently targeted re-entry vehicle—weapons have been placed in silos attached to Minot Air Force Base in northwest North Dakota.

But Monday's installation was the first one in which news media were notified.

The Pentagon said warheads for the missiles now being installed will be added next month.

The Minuteman III can be equipped either with the single nuclear warhead of the earlier Minuteman I and II or the MIRV, which contains multiple warheads that can be delivered to several different targets.

The new missiles were estimated to cost $300 million with another $150 million spent on the modification of existing launch facilities and launch control centers and the installation of ground support equipment at the 150 silos throughout eight North Dakota counties.

Minot is the first base to have the MIRV system as part of a Minuteman III rocket, which weighs 76,000 pounds, about three tons heavier than earlier models, and has a range of 6,000 miles at up to 15,000 miles per hour.

Air Force officials escorted newsmen to an installation 23 miles northwest of Parshall, where cameramen were permitted to photograph the lowering of a Minuteman into a silo.

Officials at the base said they were not allowed to say how many of the advanced weapons had been placed in North Dakota.

Judge Rules In Favor Of Draftees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge holds that the Army should release the estimated 6,000 men who were illegally reclassified 1-A and drafted prior to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling banning such inductions.

U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli's order Monday to release Pfc. Robert W. Andre was called the first retroactive application of the high court's Gutknecht decision of last January.

The 23-year-old Downey, Calif. man, now at Ft. Ord, Calif., was inducted April 9 1969, by a draft board which accelerated his induction because he failed to supply the board an address change.

He petitioned for release last March on the basis of the Supreme Court's 5-3 decision that it was illegal for the draft board of David E. Gutknecht of Gaylord, Minn., to hasten his induction because he turned in his draft card at a 1967 antiwar rally.

Zirpoli said there was "no substantial reason" why the Gutknecht decision should not apply to Andre and others already inducted. He said it was the intent of the Supreme Court ruling to insure that drafting men would be "based on the facts which would properly place them in the 1-A category."

The judge granted a 10-day stay of execution of the order to release Andre. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning said he will file an appeal speedily.

Browning had argued there was a "compelling national interest" against applying the Gutknecht decision retroactively to some 6,000 men in the service. He said it would cause great administrative problems.

Rhodes Reports He Got $3,000 From Crofters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has added his name to a growing list of Republicans who received campaign contributions from Crofters, Inc., the firm involved in a scandal over state investments.

Rhodes said Monday that two officers of the firm, which helped arrange large loans of state funds to private companies, contributed a total of $3,000 to his unsuccessful bid for the GOP senate nomination.

But he said he wanted to "emphatically point out" that neither his office nor that of U.S. senator "has any legal or informal connections with the investment policies of the state treasurer's office or the state retirement system."

State Auditor Roger Cloud launched an investigation of the treasurer's office and the state School Employees Retirement system after it was revealed that several commercial firms had received large unsecured loans from it.

Cloud, the Republican candidate for governor, called on State Treasurer John D. Herbert, GOP nominee for attorney general, and Sen. Robin Turner, GOP candidate for treasurer, to withdraw from the November ticket after it was disclosed they had received campaign contributions from Harry Gro-ban, a Crofters officer.

Both refused.

Top Military Men Get Meditation Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird apparently thinks generals, admirals and their civilian bosses need to meditate at least as much as congressmen.

On Laird's orders, workmen are building a wood-paneled "meditation room" in the Pentagon—a small, two-room sanctuary just off a busy corridor.

Attorney Gen. Paul W. Brown earlier said his unsuccessful campaign for the GOP gubernatorial nomination received a $2,750 contribution from Donahue and a similar donation from Griffith.

Herbert said a $15,000 contribution from Groban was returned. Turner said the $7,500 he received from Groban was spent on his campaign.

Cloud said Donahue tried to donate $1,000 to his campaign but he ordered it returned.

Armstrong Mobbed By Russian Crowd

MOSCOW (AP) — Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, has received a rousing reception from a mainly Russian crowd at the 13th conference of the International Committee on Space Research.

He was mobbed by the audience yesterday and besieged by autograph seekers before giving a half hour talk on his experiences on the lunar surface.

Agnew, Council Study Rising Unemployment

The Circleville Herald, Wed. May 27, 1970 17
Circleville, Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has summoned the President's Council on Youth Opportunity to a rare meeting amid signs that a summer unemployment problem of massive proportions is building in the nation's cities.

Officials said the council, composed of representatives of Cabinet departments and the Office of Economic Opportunity, has met in general session only once in the past eight months.

But an administration spokesman denied the meeting, set for Thursday, was an emergency session. He said it was called to bring the various domestic departments together for an estimate of employment commitments and to discuss summer recreational plans and needs.

Government figures show the unemployment rate among black teenagers has hit 45 per cent in Los Angeles and 40 per cent in Detroit. Nationwide, urban specialists are forecasting a 30 per cent unemployment rate among black youths this summer.

"The catalyst" for Thursday's council meeting, the spokesman said, "is that we are approaching the summer and want to see before the end of the fiscal year what's being spent and where and what the targets and objectives are of the several agencies involved."

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said it was coincidental that the council was meeting on the same day that Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., plans to introduce a bill that would add $100 million and 227,000 job slots to the Neighborhood Youth Corps' summer program.

The Nixon administration has announced a $146 million program that would provide 328,000 summer jobs. A Labor Department spokesman said this would be augmented later with special contingency funds for the nation's 50 largest cities.

The need for an expanded NYC program and continuation of the $35 million OEO summer recreation program have been championed for weeks by urban advocates, particularly the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

The joint organization, the lobbying and research arm for the nation's cities, citing Bureau of Labor Statistics' figures, says one of every three ghetto dwellers between the ages of 16 and 21 will be unemployed this summer, barring government intervention or a sudden economic upswing. The League says there is a need for 555,000 NYC job slots.

"When you have a group of highly active young people loitering on street corners or gathering in crowds without the prospect of channeling their energy into constructive activity such as athletics or employment, you have all the ingredients for serious urban unrest," said Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III of Baltimore at a League manpower seminar in New Orleans earlier this month.

The top item on Thursday's agenda, an administration spokesman said, will be the controversy over a decision announced in March to convert the $35 million OEO summer recreation program into a year-round program aimed at work-training and study.

The Nixon administration, in redesigning the program for 14 to 25-year-olds argued that emphasis should be on jobs and vocational training. This, rather than recreation, would produce the best return on the investment of federal dollars, officials maintained.

Critics of the decision maintain the program was of incalculable psychological value, provided real recreational opportunities and created jobs.

Porkers Rate High On Animal IQ List

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Pigs at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture have revealed a high level of intelligence during testing which may determine the quality and price of pork at local supermarkets.

Animal scientists at the school say that the learning level of swine breeds can influence the quality of future litters.

A U. K. team of testers also discovered that porkers rate high on the list of the more intelligent laboratory animals. They said pigs are considered superior to dogs, rats and mice in their ability to adapt to environmental changes.

Earnhart Hill Water District Becoming Reality

The Earnhart Hill Water District distribution system will be built.

Ralph Voorhis, chief of community services, and Bruce Conner, county supervisor of The Farmers Home Administration, in a meeting with the Pickaway County Commissioners and the directors of the Earnhart Hill Water District announced that a $200,000 loan had been earmarked for the cooperative water district.

The loan will bear 5 per cent interest and will be for a period of 40 years. At the time of the announcement, Voorhis read a letter of conditions to be fulfilled before the loan could be closed.

One of these conditions was that the district have 354 members. At the present time there are 309 subscribers. The directors by resolution reopened the membership in the association at the original $100 tapping fee. As soon as the 354 members are obtained, the fee will be increased to the $250 per tap as established by the rules of the association.

ONLY those persons who live on a road where the preliminary engineering report established a water main may sign for service at this time.

The area to be served by the Earnhart Hill Water District lies in the East Central part of Pickaway County and includes parts of the following Townships: Circleville, Pickaway, Washington, and Walnut.

The geology of this area is a thin glacial drift composed basically of a clayey till ranging from 10 to 66 feet in depth and overlying the shale bed rock.

Very limited quantities of ground water can be developed; dug wells and cisterns are often the only means to supply the domestic water needs. Since only shallow ground water is available, these wells and cisterns are highly susceptible to contamination and are a danger to public health.

Since there is a limited quantity of ground water in most of the district, many people who live in the area are found to maintain cisterns and purchase water from another source, then transport it to their homes. The cost of this service is generally three to four dollars per thousand gallon.

Because of the limited ground water availability and the uncertainty of a dependability supply of water in the area, a study of the district was conducted with the advice and assistance of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The decision was made to purchase water from one of the two water treatment plants in the area: Consumers Water Company and the City of Circleville.

BECAUSE of the more favorable water rate and because Consumers Water Company had a complete treatment facility and could offer the people of the area a water of a quality not attainable from any other source, the directors felt that they should, rather than build a new treatment plant, enter into a contract with Consumers Water Company for their water supply.

To purchase water from another source would add approximately $1 per month to the average cost plus the fact that it would cost each customer of the Earnhart Hill Water District another $4.50 to $6.50 per month to soften the water.

Anyone wishing further information may call one of the District directors: Russell Parish, 474-2575, Claude Cox, 474-6393, Walter Rase, 474-5847, Ned Dresbach, 474-4782 or Allen Ankrom, 474-5785.

Cleveland Pay Raises Contested

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland city employee in the Community Development Department has filed a suit in U.S. District Court here to stop the automatic three per cent pay increase for policemen and firemen on June 1.

Donald Knuth, 26, charged Tuesday that a 1968 city charter amendment granting the automatic pay hikes violates the constitutional rights of other city employees who must "undergo the normal, constitutional rigors of the legislative process" to get pay raises.

Knuth, a housing consultant for the city, asked the court for a permanent injunction enjoining city officials from enforcing the charter amendments which calls for Cleveland safety forces to receive three per cent more pay than the highest paid safety personnel in any other Ohio city.

U.S. District Court Chief Judge Frank J. Battisti refused to grant a temporary restraining order halting pay raises, but set a hearing for June 5.

Knuth's attorney said that unless other city employees were put on the same basis as police and firemen so far as the method of obtaining salary and pension benefits was concerned, they would be denied their fair share of money disbursed by the city.

Pay increases, which become effective Monday, grant policemen $10,063 a year after two years' experience.

Knuth said he earned about $9,000 last year and received his last pay increase last June.

Research In Utilization Of Gas Is Part Of Columbia Gas Effort

Research into more efficient ways to utilize natural gas; new sources of gas, both natural and synthetic; new methods to store and transport, and development of new and better equipment to use this basic fuel has been an intensive effort at The Columbia Gas System Service Corp. since 1963.

Since that year, and including 1970, The Columbia Gas System will have spent $18.4 million for research. The budget for the current year is $3.8 million.

"Our research program, unequalled anywhere in the natural gas industry, is evidence of our faith in the future of our business as well as Columbia's recognition of the major role natural gas plays in the nation's energy picture," said S. Orlofsky, New York, Service Corporation senior vice president.

With the completion of Columbia's new facility at Marble Cliff, the research staff now consists of 70 persons, 35 of whom are engineers and scientists, and 27 technicians. The professional group represents 27 bachelor of science degrees, seven master's, and three doctorates. William F. Morse, with headquarters at Marble Cliff, is director of research for the Service Corporation.

"Primary directions of research investigation in 1970 are gas supply, the environment, gas storage, ocean-operation technology and better ways to use natural gas," Orlofsky said. He added that part of the 1970 budget will go to outside agencies with which Columbia is cooperating on research projects, such as Battelle Memorial Institute, Arthur D. Little, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and Spindletop Research, Inc. In addition, Columbia is working with the American Gas Assn. in industrywide sponsored research.

During 1969 Columbia participated in 89 research projects, ranging through the basic areas of domestic, commercial, industrial, operational and gas supply activity. Many of these are continuing into 1970.

In addition, the Research Computer Center provides technical services to the department and others upon request.

Among the research projects — both in-house and under joint sponsorship with outside agencies — are several with special social significance. For example, work is continuing on the development of a gas fuel cell for the production of electricity. By utilizing natural gas, it will provide the sole source of energy for residential, commercial and industrial use. The fuel cell would provide the most efficient means known of converting chemical energy to electricity, would minimize pollution, and would be a totally quiet source of electric power.

Continuing to place heavy emphasis on gas supply technology, Columbia is actively participating in technical supervision of a pilot plant at Chicago to convert coal to pipeline quality natural gas. The hydrogasification process will be used in the new Chicago plant, expected to be completed during the current year. Other coal gasification concepts, including a developing project at Marble Cliff, are also being investigated.

Presently being evaluated are advanced methods of natural gas exploration and storage. At the same time, Columbia research also is pursuing several ocean science projects aimed at providing needed technology to send gas to shore from increasing water depths.

A successful contribution to environmental protection has been the development of industrial fume incineration systems now on the market. Being tested is a new-type burner which can incinerate a wide range of solid and organic liquid wastes.

Additional research and development projects in which Columbia has been engaged include:

A new home mini-furnace, which has been successfully field tested and is expected to be on the market in 1971.

A swimming pool heater that is one-third the size, more efficient and more attractive than presently-available equipment.

Gas range with a smooth-top cooking surface which is expected to be introduced this year. A self-cleaning oven has been designed by Columbia and licensed to a range manufacturer. Sales are gaining momentum rapidly.

Discrimination Suit Is Filed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Labor Department has charged that an Elyria company has consistently discriminated against women employees.

In the suit filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court here, the Labor Department said that since 1966 Standard Screw Co. and its successor, Stanadyne, Inc., had violated federal law by not paying women machine operators as much as male operators.

The Labor Department asked for a permanent injunction enjoining the company from discriminating against women employees.

Padres Rip Red Machine Twice

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It is unusual for a second-year expansion team to have a hitter like Nate Colbert who is tied for the league lead in home runs or someone else such as Clarence Gaston who is averaging .342.

That is the good fortune of the San Diego Padres, who stunned Cincinnati Tuesday night by sweeping a doubleheader from the National League West leading Reds, 8-1 and 4-1.

"Preston Gomez (the San Diego manager) deserves a lot of credit for not giving up on Gaston," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, who was a San Diego coach last year.

He watched Gaston strike out at an alarming rate, average .230 and hit only two homers.

This is the same San Diego centerfielder who mauled the Reds for six hits Tuesday night — including two triples and his seventh homer in 49 games this spring. Gaston had seven hits in a row, three short of the league record, until he popped up in the fifth inning of the second game.

"Preston saw something in the boy last season and kept him in the lineup," said Anderson.

"I can't say I saw the same things in him, but they are there now."

The Reds need to win the series finale tonight to gain a 2-2 split here.

They will pitch their sensational rookie righthander, Wayne Simpson, 6-1, against the Padres' Gary Ross, 1-3.

Colbert knocked in four runs in the Tuesday night opener with his 15th and 16th homers. That has lifted him into a tie for the National League lead with such bigger names as Henry Aaron, Richie Allen and Tony Perez.

It angered Colbert in the first inning of the nightcap when he was struck first on the forearm and then on the cheek by an inside fast ball thrown by the Reds' Pedro Borbon.

Colbert thought it was no coincidence that the incident occurred moments after Gaston had rocked Boron for a three-run homer.

The blow felled the San Diego cleanup batter and, when he regained his senses, he tried to charge the mound only to be restrained by several teammates.

"Sure he was throwing at me," said the Padre first baseman, who had to leave the game for x-rays that were to prove negative.

Colbert's forearm, which took the brunt of the blow, was sorer than his cheekbone and he might have to miss tonight's game.

The Padres, who have hit 60 homers and trail only Cincinnati and Atlanta in that department, were at their best of the season in the doubleheader sweep.

A three-run homer by Ollie Brown in the first game helped them beat the Reds at their own game — the long ball and their pitching dominated Cincinnati's lethal attack.

Mike Corkins, 4-4, a rookie who has won four of his last five decisions, and Tom Dukes combined to pitch a six-hitter in the opener. Danny Coombs, 5-3, and newcomer Roberto Rodriguez, scattered six hits in the nightcap.

READY FOR THE 54TH RENEWAL — It's Indy and the Speedway and the 54th big race, the 500-mile, is scheduled for production May 30 with 33 drivers ready to go for the big prize money. Crowd estimates generally are around 300,000. Al Unser, who averaged 170.221 miles per hour in the qualifier, will be on the pole. He's a brother of Bobby Unser.

Any One Of 10-12 Men Could Be Indy 500 Winner

By LLOYD RUBY
Written for
The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — I figure 10 or 12 drivers are capable of winning the Indianapolis 500 this race, even though there are 33 guys right now who think they can win the race or else they wouldn't even be in the starting field.

But I really feel there are only 10 or 12 individuals who will be competitive as long as their equipment holds up. In that respect, I think my car is stronger than any car here.

The guys I think will be competitive right from the start are Al Unser and his brother Bobby, who won the race in 1968; A. J. Foyt, a three-time winner at Indy and one of the sport's greatest competitors; Mario Andretti, last year's winner; Roger McCluskey; Joe Leonard, who still holds the track qualifying record; Gordon John-cock, Johnny Rutherford, Art Pollard and Dan Gurney.

The Unsers, Foyt, Andretti and McCluskey always charge. They like to run up front and always make an effort to get there. I figure these guys will be fighting it out up front while I'm trying to get up there with them from 25th starting position.

"I'll tell you, I enjoy racing Al, A.J. and Roger any time, especially at Indy. I don't mind running with these three guys side by side flat out all day long. I have a lot of confidence in their ability."

I think Leonard will be a factor this year. He has top equipment. Johncock hasn't done anything spectacular so far this month but he always comes on strong in the race. Rutherford is starting on the front row this time, but I really don't know what he'll do. Pollard could be a factor and it's hard to say what Gurney will do with the new equipment he brought this year.

The worst problem I can foresee in the race is the guys whose equipment won't be capable of maintaining the pace. There's a tendency to overextend yourself when your equipment isn't up to it.

That causes problems. You don't have to ask for trouble here... you automatically get it. Without the experience of running in the oil after the track gets slick, many guys will find themselves in trouble real quick.

But everybody has to run on the same race track and I don't mean to make bad remarks about rookies or guys with little experience getting in the way. The guys running in their second or third race are the same guys who will be running at the front in a few years. After all, the drivers starting up front Saturday are the same guys who were getting in everybody's way a few years back. I probably did it myself. Naturally, I didn't think so at the time.

Grzenda Leads Senators Past Sox, 7-5

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Grzenda is what the baseball trade refers to as a journeyman reliever... and he's got the journey to prove it.

In a career dating back to 1955, Grzenda has pitched in such minor league outposts as Jamestown, Valdosta, Durham, Birmingham, Charleston, W. Va., Victoria, Birmingham again, Denver, Syracuse, Oklahoma City, Denver again, Birmingham still another time, Vancouver, Oklahoma City again, Mobile and... you guessed it... Birmingham and Denver.

Along the way he made it to the majors for four games with Detroit in 1961, 20 with Kansas City in 1964 and 21 in 1966 and 11 with the New York Mets in 1967 before spending a full season with the Minnesota Twins a year ago.

Even that didn't last and Grzenda was shipped off to the Washington Senators shortly before the start of the 1970 campaign. But, even with his varied travel background, it came as something of a surprise when he showed up on the mound in Boston's Fenway Park Tuesday night... as a starting pitcher, no less.

But the 32-year-old left-hander, pitching in a park that has an unfriendly history where southpaws are concerned, limited the hard-hitting Red Sox to one hit for eight innings and the Senators made off with a 7-5 triumph.

"I didn't know for sure I was going to pitch until 5:30," said Grzenda, who got to start when Casey Cox showed up sick. "I was happy. I always wanted to start in the big leagues. And the surprising thing was that I wasn't nervous. I thought I would be."

"I hadn't started a game anywhere since 1963 and I hadn't pitched a complete game since before my arm got hurt (1959). I was disappointed I couldn't finish."

Cox was well enough to get the last two outs after Grzenda surrendered a single to Carl Yastrzemski and a homer to Tony Conigliaro with one out in the ninth.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota beat Milwaukee 6-2, California topped Oakland 4-2, Baltimore trounced Cleveland 7-0, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 3-0 and the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 3-1.

In National League action, San Diego swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 8-1 and 4-1, Los Angeles battered San Francisco 19-3, Atlanta tripped Houston 5-3, the Chicago Cubs downed Pittsburgh 6-3, the New York Mets whipped St. Louis 5-1 and Philadelphia shaded Montreal 3-2.

The only hit off Grzenda for eight innings was Conigliaro's triple in the first as the Red Sox scored three times following a rash of Washington errors. But the Senators had shelled Gary Peters for five runs in the top of the first.

Paul Casanova, who smacked a two-run double in the first, doubled again in the sixth after a homer by Aurelio Rodriguez and scored on Ed Stroud's single for a 7-3 blow.

Pitcher Jim Kaat posted his fifth victory, drove in a run and scored the deciding run from first on a single as the Twins beat the Brewers. Kaat added another hit and scored another run as he upped his record to 5-1. Cesar Tovar homered for the Twins, Danny Walton and Tommy Harper for the Brewers.

The Angels remained one game behind Minnesota in the AL West as Bill Voss hammered a tie-breaking two-run double in the seventh inning. Voss' hit followed a single by Jim Spencer and a walk to Ken McMullen, who accounted for the Angels' first two runs with a second-inning homer. Reggie Jackson connected for the A's.

The Orioles opened a 7½-game spread over the Yankees in the AL East as Jim Hardin blanked Cleveland on five hits and Chico Salmon rapped four singles. Boog Powell drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a single.

Willie Horton's three-run homer in the ninth inning broke up a brilliant pitching duel between Earl Wilson of the Tigers and Mel Stottlemyre of the Yankees. Both hurled four-hitters, Horton, who also hit a three-run shot Monday night, connected following a walk to pinch hitter Gates Brown, Al Kaline's sacrifice and an intentional walk to Norm Cash.

The White Sox took a 3-0 lead over the Royals, one of the runs coming on Ossie Blance's first Major League hit, before Wilbur Wood snuffed out a seventh-inning uprising to preserve Jerry Jansky's fourth victory.

Entries Open For Tennis Tournament

Local junior tennis players, both boys and girls in age groups 12, 14, 16 and 18 years, are invited to enter the South Central Ohio Area Center Tennis Tournament to be held June 6 at the Yocentage Park Tennis Courts in Chillicothe starting at 10:00 a.m.

An entry fee will be charged. Players will be competing in eight divisions for the right to represent the South Central Area in the Ohio Valley Tennis Association's Regional Tournaments to be held June 23-July 2 in Cincinnati for girls, and June 23-26 in Springfield for boys.

The regional tournaments will match the South Central Ohio Area winners against winners of similar area tournaments being held in Charleston, Huntington and Parkersburg, West Virginia; and in Springfield, Dayton, Columbus, Middletown and Cincinnati, Ohio.

Winners in the regional tournaments go to the Western Championships to be held in July. Winners in the Western Tournaments qualify for the National Junior Championship Tournaments.

Area Chairman Larry Schum points out that the tournament in Chillicothe is the first step toward gaining regional or national recognition for a local player. He hopes that a sizeable number of local players will enter this important tournament.

Players who want to enter the tournament should mail entries promptly to Mr. Robert E. Shoaf, Tournament Director, 437 Laurel, Chillicothe 45601, Telephone 773-2436.

Entries must include name, address, telephone number, date of birth, boy or girl, and age group (12, 14, 16 or 18) to be entered. Entries close June 4, 1970.

Baseball Czar Bowie Kuhn Testifies At Flood Trial

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was to be the leadoff man for the defense today in Curt Flood's $3 million anti-trust suit against baseball.

Kuhn's appearance will mark the start of the second half of the case before Judge Irving Ben Cooper in Federal Court. It is expected to continue for at least another week.

After calling 10 witnesses in five days, including Flood, Hall of Famers Jackie Robinson and Hank Greenberg and the commissioners of pro football, basketball and hockey, the defense rested Tuesday.

Motions by Mark Hughes, baseball's chief lawyer, to dismiss the case, were denied by Judge Cooper who ordered the case to continue "until all the evidence has been adduced."

Flood, former St. Louis Cardinal center fielder who refused to accept a trade to Philadelphia, is charging baseball with violations of federal and various state antitrust laws and common law and claims the reserve system constitutes "peonage and involuntary servitude" and deprives him of the freedom of labor.

Hughes claimed Flood's lawyers had failed to prove the peonage and slavery charges and insisted it had not shown a violation of antitrust laws.

Jay Topkis, speaking for Flood in the absence of Arthur Goldberg, his chief attorney, asked the case be continued to learn "what kind of an explanation can baseball come up with to explain its fantastic system of regimentation."

Topkis praised Flood's sacrifice of refusing to play because his freedom is worth more."

He added, I don't think this is a claim to which an American Court can turn a deaf ear."

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, said his sport did not have a play-out-the-option clause, like pro football. He said the NBA did allow a player under contract for one year to play a second year without a contract while negotiations are going on. He said some players had "jumped contracts" and signed with the rival American Basketball Association.

Columbus, Toledo Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was shutdown night for both of Ohio's teams in the International League but the Columbus Jets and Toledo Mud Hens were on the wrong end of the blankings Tuesday.

Tidewater's Danny Frisella boosted his pitching record to 6-1 with a six-hit shutout as the Tides battered Columbus 8-0. Ronnie Allen (Richie's brother) belted two homers that pushed across five runs for the Tides.

Syracuse's Thad Tiltonson had a no-hitter going for the first five innings but Toledo managed to get three hits before settling for a 2-0 defeat.

Tiltonson also laid down a perfect bunt in the first inning that produced Syracuse's first run while Ron Blomberg got the other with his third homer of the season.

In other IL action, Richmond edged Louisville 3-2 in 10 innings while Rochester outslugged Buffalo 15-8.

Wide-Open Memphis Golf Clash Seen

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MEMPHIS (AP) — The absence of many of golf's top names left a wide-open, multiple-man scramble for the favorite's role in the $150,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open.

Gary Player, the number two man on the money list this year, has gone home to South Africa. And the three career $1 million winners on the tour—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper—also are skipping the event that starts Thursday.

With those giants out, there is a flock of prime candidates for the $30,000 first prize, including Lee Trevino, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Dan Sikes, Tommy Aaron, Homero Blancas, Gene Littler, Miller Barber, Don January, Bob Lunn and Lee Elder.

All are top contenders, but the outspoken Hill may be the No. 1 choice on what he calls one of his favorite courses. He has won two of the last three titles here, including the last one.

I just seem to putt good on these greens," he said after a practice round Tuesday. If they'd let me carry these greens around with me on tour everybody else would be playing for second place every week."

Blancas, Barber, January, and Lunn all have scored victories this year. Little always is dangerous and has finished second twice this season, while the slow-starting Elder played well here last year and appeared to have snapped a lengthy slump last week in the Atlanta Classic.

As always, the fast-talking Trevino is a distinct threat. He's back from a rare week off, has won twice this season and is the only man to go over $100,000 in money winnings this year.

MacFadden, Bell Share PCC Honors

Dean MacFadden and Brent Bell tied for low gross with 37 in the Pickaway Country Club Men's League Tuesday.

Low net was a three way tie with Marc Davis, Ron Berlin and Lew Taylor all netting 32.

Winning team with 15½ points was Steve Brudzinski, Howie Davis, Roger Bennington, Paul Butz, John Evans, Lew Taylor and Dave Gillespie.

Team standings are: Team 6, 45 points; Team 7, 39½ points and Team 4, 38 points.

Baltimore Routs Tribe; Wins 7-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Hardin, hanging on the rim of obscurity for two seasons, has shown the form of his 18-victory season with a large assist from the high-voltage bat of Chico Salmon.

Hardin, hurling his first complete game since last July, fired a five-hitter Tuesday night as Salmon rapped four singles in leading the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-0 rout of the Cleveland Indians.

Hardin, 2-1, struck out six Indians in guiding the defending American League champions to their 17th verdict in 22 starts. The victory gave the Orioles a 7½-game lead in the AL East over New York, which lost 3-0 to Detroit.

Salmon, the Panamanian utilityman filling in for injured second baseman Dave Johnson, continued his hot batting streak which has seen him clip off nine singles in 13 at-bats since the Orioles' 4-3 second-game loss to Boston Sunday.

The Orioles raked three Cleveland pitchers for 10 hits in handing starter Dean Chance his fifth loss in six decisions.

Brooks Robinson ripped a double, single and sacrifice fly. Paul Blair and Elrod Hendricks each slammed run-producing doubles. Boog Powell had a two-run single and Mark Belanger singled in another run.

Hardin had not gone the route since last July 27. The 27-year-old right-hander walked three in hurling the Orioles' second shut-out of the season before 5,744 Memorial Stadium patrons.

Bragan Not Appreciated

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP) — Bobby Bragan, Texas League president and former major league manager, discovered recently the perils of trying to pass on a few tips in the little league.

He arrived to make a presentation to nine and 10-year-old boys on a kiddy team. Getting there a bit early, Bragan organized an infield practice and passed out a few tips and shouted some advice.

A coach of one of the teams arrived and demanded "Who's that out there with my boys?" "That's Bobby Bragan," someone said.

"Well, I don't know who he is," the coach grumbled, but one thing's for sure—he doesn't know a thing about baseball. I've been working with these boys a month, and he's tearing down everything we have accomplished!"

HAVING HIMSELF A FLING — The Oakland Athletics' Sal Bando, flubbing a throw, leaps for the ball at third base, already the runner, Ted Kubiak of the Milwaukee Brewers, already is on his way home for a run. Scene is Milwaukee.

SPORTS Highlights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dick Farrington piloted his 5-year-old gelding, Stormy C, to an easy win in the featured race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night. The pacer covered the mile in 2:05 4-5 and paid $4.20, $2.80 and $2.40.

Zig Time finished second and returned $4.60 and $3, while Hernou Gene was worth $3.20 for show.

The 1-4 daily double combination of Jerry Lin and Tartan Star paid $43. The 3-5 quinella returned $30.60.

A crowd of 5,128 wagered $206,950.

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — Billy Hardwick, the defending champion from Louisville, set two records in leading 12 men into the finals of the $65,000, 29th All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Hardwick rolled 6,685 Tuesday night to crack the previous 30-game mark of 6,655 set by Wayne Zahn of Tempe, Ariz., in 1968. Hardwick also rolled a six-game block of 1,499 in the afternoon to better the previous record of 1,480 shot by Duane Martin of Wichita, Kan., in 1965.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State engineering student Mike Good solved an 8-year-old problem Tuesday when he led U.S. Open golf qualifying with a one-over-par 141 over York Temple Country Club.

Good tried eight years ago as a 15-year-old in Huntington, W. Va., to qualify for the U.S. Open. "I missed by a couple of strokes," he said.

The ex-Ohio State varsity golfer will lead 14 Columbus qualifiers in the Cincinnati Sectional June 8.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Four football players, including former Baltimore Colts linebacker Don Shinnick, were named winners today of the first annual Christian Athlete Awards given by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The others are Bob Anderson of Colorado and Mike Kolen of Auburn and a high school player, Drew Kindseth of Marshall, Minn.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Par 144 scores for 36 holes on The Country Club golf course here gave Youngstown's George Bellino, Canton's Charles Rotar and Australia's David Graham low honors in U.S. Open golf tournament qualifying play.

The trio completed play Monday, but had to wait until the rest of the field completed play Tuesday for official honors. Rain prevented some of the golfers from finishing Monday.

Ex-Cincy Residents Are Nabbed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two former Cincinnati area residents, arrested in Medford Ore., will be returned to the Queen City where they were indicted several years ago in a bankruptcy case.

The FBI here said Tuesday that Herbert Engle, 50, and Mary Yochum, 33, were arrested by agents Monday and were being held under $200,000 bond each.

Engle and Miss Yochum were indicted by a federal grand jury on 11 counts of conspiracy to violate the national bankruptcy act.

Paul Fields, special agent in charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, said that Engle, who operated the King Bee Auto Leasing Co. here from 1951 to 1958, served a prison term but was charged with probation violation in 1965 and the FBI launched a widespread search for him and Miss Yochum. The two were charged then with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Both had been indicted in connection with about $500,000 in assets of King Bee being concealed. King Bee, which dealt in the leasing of automobiles, was forced into involuntary bankruptcy. Fields said that Engle was charged with using company funds in contemplation of the bankruptcy and brought $450,000 worth of U. S. Treasury bonds and $70,000 worth of coupons.

Not all of the bonds have been recovered.

Fields said that the two have also been charged in the defrauding of several Sacramento, Calif., banks of $300,000 since 1967.

Ohio Senate OKs Pair Of Tax Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 108th General Assembly ambled toward a conclusion Tuesday with the passage of 12 bills, including two Senate approved measures affecting tax systems in Ohio.

A permissive tax bill allowing municipalities to levy a graduated income tax, was approved 21-10. The bill, sponsored by Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati permits local governmental units to grant exemptions of up to $3,000 in income.

The second tax measure calls for the exemption of all federal pensions from estate taxation in Ohio. It passed the Senate 31-0 en route to the governor for signing.

The House approved and sent to the governor a pesticide bill aimed at the control of use of toxic substances, including DDT.

The bill sets up licensing requirements for persons commercially using the pesticides.

The House also passed 82-5 and sent to the governor emergency bill extending from July 1 to Oct. 1 the period a child day care center may operate without a state license.

The House repealed 65-21 a bill adopted into law only last year. The measure, requiring cabinet designs of a governor-elect to serve with their outgoing counterparts, was repealed primarily because of the costs involved, according to House members.

Soviets . . .

Red China can consider it has little to lose by interminable guerrilla war in which it is not directly involved. It could reckon that the losers would be the superpowers, who because of strains generated by such tension, are unable to agree on anything important and are pushed into a spiraling arms race. The superpowers must worry about the possibility of a mutually destructive conflict, but China, meanwhile, can pursue its goal of leading a "third world" revolution.

It is little wonder that Moscow exploded with frustration. Pravda's May 18 editorial of 7,000 words was a cry of pain and outrage, accusing Mao of trying to take over the whole "national liberation movement." Mao, it said, dreamed of a "great China that would rule at least Asia, if not the world." It said Maoism betrayed world revolution. It hinted Peking was leading the Indochina Communists to the sort of ruin experienced by the Indonesian party when its Chinese-backed try for a coup exploded in 1965.

The real source of Soviet frustration seems to lie in the reality of China's swift action and its Indochina. If the Americans get out of Cambodia, as they say they will, Sihanouk's "liberation" movement likely will seek to get up a head of steam with close Chinese support. Then, after all Moscow's years of painstaking and expensive support of Hanoi, the Chinese will have a good long-term chance of excluding the Russians, not only from North Vietnam but from Cambodia, Laos and perhaps elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

Mead Offers Industrial Land To City

A 110-acre site of industrial land has been offered the City of Chillicothe by Mead Corp. Warren Hendricks, vice president in charge of Mead Papers' Chillicothe area mills suggested that Mead could give significant stimulus to the city's efforts to attract new industry by contributing needed industrial land.

The parcel is adjacent to railroads. Utilities are relatively close to the site located in an area off Southern Ave. with good state and federal highways.

The city would annex the land. A restriction placed on the donation was that if there is no industry located on the site within the next five years, Mead will grant a "reasonable extension." This was done to encourage local officials to begin moving to seek industrial prospects as soon as possible.

County Plans Free Measles Immunization

Rubella (three-day measles) vaccine will be made available to all Pickaway County children one through 10 years of age, Sunday, June 7 at a free clinic sponsored by the county Medical Society.

In an effort to eliminate rubella, commonly called German or three-day measles, the State Department of Health is providing the vaccine and promoting the mass immunization.

Rubella, a communicable disease, most often occurs in school-age children. Vaccine immunizes the child against catching, carrying and spreading the disease.

Any boy or girl who has not had the vaccine, is eligible to receive it with signed permission of a parent or legal guardian.

Rubella vaccine will not be administered to any child allergic to chicken or duck, their eggs or feathers or neomycin; to any child suffering from leukemia or cancer; to any child suffering from or being treated for gamma globulin deficiency; any child now receiving unusual medication from a doctor; any child who has received oral polio vaccine, measles vaccine, mumps vaccine or a smallpox vaccine within the past four weeks.

The program is co-sponsored by the Pickaway County Board of Health.

Hours for the clinic are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Wall Street Slide Felt On Foreign Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market plunge in this country is sending tremors through most of the world's major financial markets.

The London stock market dropped Tuesday to its lowest level in three years. The Financial Times index dropped 13.8 points to 315.5, last reached in March 1967. Nearly all industrial leaders showed losses.

British financial writers called the slump on the London market "Black Tuesday" and blamed falling prices entirely on New York.

Meanwhile, the market in the United States took another drubbing Tuesday that sent the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 stocks down 10.20 points, to 631.16, its lowest level since Nov. 19, 1962. The loss meant that the blue-chip indicator had plummeted over 70 points in the last five sessions.

In Toronto, the stock market

PICCA Plans Study Program

Pickaway County Community Action is making plans for a summer improvement session for local citizens to complete their high school education and receive tutoring on special subjects.

Volunteers are needed for the Adult Basic Education classes, School Equivalency Preparation program in both the pupil and instructor basis. High school students, teachers and other adults are urged to become involved in the volunteer programs by donating some of their time this summer or by contributing toward the cost of books which must be purchased for the courses.

Anyone interested in participating in the program are asked to contact Shirlee Yenkee at the PICCA office by calling 474-7452.

touched a four year low Tuesday, with industrials off 3.67 at 141.61. Prices on the exchange Monday had suffered their sharpest drop since 1963.

The Montreal stock market closed lower although the declines were considerably less than those recorded Monday when the industrial index plunged more than six points to a three year low. Financial analysts blamed the slide in good measure on the crisis in Wall Street.

Stocks on the Paris Bourse fell over a wide range, and continued to do so despite a statement of confidence by the French finance minister.

"Wall Street is in full disarray," said the evening paper Paris Presse. It added that a mere stock exchange crisis had developed into a crisis of confidence in the Nixon administration.

In Switzerland, the Zurich market closed sharply down with losses in all sectors. Financial writers there also said that Wall Street's plunge, which triggered the European declines, were caused by a loss of faith in the administration.

Prices on the Frankfurt exchange declined across the board in heavy selling. Brokers reported an increasing number of foreign sell orders. And in Amsterdam, all foreign stocks closed lower.

The only major stock markets to withstand the downward pressure emanating from Wall Street were Tokyo and Milan. Both exchanges enjoyed late rallies.

The Tokyo exchange's index rose 0.75 to 149.60.

Milan's stock market closed mixed.

Bradbury K. Thurlow, analyst for Hoppin Bros., a New York brokerage firm, said the drop in foreign stock prices was due to "Europeans who are saying, 'We're got a lifetime opportunity to buy U.S. stocks at bargain levels.' So they're dumping their own stocks, causing prices to fall," he said.
